A Bind Stony, -Mr. Masson, G1 Shanklin, and the writer, were sitting patiently waiting for oysters at an entng place, when Manson said:

"Shanklin, can you tell a young female canary bird from a male one?' "No, Mr. Manson, I can not," replied Shanklin, and cocking his eye-glass on his dexter optic, said, "Can you?" "Yes," stoutly spoke up Manson. "You feed the young birds with angle worms, and the male birds will invariably cat the male worms and the female birds the female worms,"

"But how in the happy land, Manson, can you tell the sex of the worms?" queried Gil.

"Shanklin," solemnly said Manson, "I was telling you a bird story, not a worm narrative." Just then the oysters arrived and

An extraordinary explosive, called tonite or cotton-powder, the product of gun-cotton nitric acid, treated in a poculiar manner, has been recently invented. It is cheaper than gun-cotton, and weight for weight it is thirty per cent stronger; and it occupies the same space as dynamite-the power of which it surpasses without its terrible danger -and only two-thirds the bulk of guncotton. Yet, strange as it may appear, a cartridge of tonite is no more likely to eatch fire from flame than a piece of soap, which it very much resembles. When actually set fire to it burns as slowly and barmlessly as a torch, its great explosive powers being manifested only by use of a fulminate.

For stopping holes in castings, or for covering scars, a useful cement may, it is said, be made of equal parts of gum arabic, plaster of Paris, and iron filings, and if a little finely pulverized white glass be added to the mixture, it will make it still harder. This mixture forms a very hard cement that will resist the action of fire and water. It should be kept in its dry state and mixed with a little water when wanted for use.

A Problem Long Since Solved.

How to remedy those prolific causes of dis-case, an impoverished circulation and an impaired digestion, was a problem the solution of which had often builded medical skill, but which was colved over a quarter of a century ago by the introduction of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters to public and professional notice. Since that time, which may well be said to have in-itiated a new epoch in the history of medicine, the remedy and preventive referred to has obtained a footbold in the confidence of the American people that each succeding year has only served to strengthen. It is re-ognized through-out the Union as a Tonic of the first order, a remedy for, and a sure means of preventing fever and ague, and disorders of the stomach and bowels; as a reliable means of reforming a disordered state of the liver, and of counteracting a tendency to rheumatism gout, urinary and uterine disorders.

But for the purpose of rearing young cattle, no better food can be given to the animals than raw potatoes in one ample meal daily, along with hay and straw. For store pigs in open yards the raw potato forms an excellent food, and, when steamed and mixed with with some impervious material, and it is not surprising that it goes right home to the roots of a person's hair, when it can find its way through the best oak staves ever made. 4

A Deodorized Extract of Fetroleum, The Only Article that Will Restore

What the World Has Been Wanting for Centuries.

Hair on Bald Heads.

Of a. the compoun's which the chemists art not given to the world for hundreds of years for the purfose of restoring the hair to its natural growth and solor, not one has teen reflect. Many of the hair drawlings of the day are expellent, but it a great most of the stuffs soid for promoting the growth and bring-ing back the original color, are near humburs, whis not a few are positively particleus in their effect upon the scalp and the structure of he bair. All hair dyes are well known to alumists as more orde a poissional because the change of color is artificial, and does not depend on a restoration of the functions of the scalp to their natural works. to their natural health and visor. The falling out of the hair, the accumulations of dandrull, and the premature change in color, are all evidences of a diseased condition of the scalp and the glands which noursels the hair. To arrest these causes the serious used must possess medicinal as well as obenical vir tues, and the change must begin unusual the scalp to be of permanent and has ing benefit. Such an article has been discovered, and, like many other wonderful discoveries, it is found to consist of elements almost in their natural scate. Petroloum oil is the article which is made to work such extraordinary route; but it is after the best article has been ch-mutally treated, and completely declorized, that it is in a proper condition for the tollet. It was in far off flussia that the effects of periodense upon the hair were first observed; a government officer having discovered that a partially-bald servant of his, while trimming the lamps, had a habit of wiping his oil beamsared hands in his scamp locks, and the result was, in a few months, a much finer head of black, glossy hair than he ever had before. The oil was tried on horse and cattle that and lost their hair from the cattle plague, and the results were as rapid as they were marvelous. The mates and even the tails of herses, which had fallen out, were completely restored in a few weeks. These experiments were heralded to the world, but the knowled a was practically excluse to those premarurely taid and gray, as no one in civilized society could tolerate the use of refined p-tryleuis, as a dressing for the hair. But the skill of one of our chamist- has overcome the difficulty, and, by a process known only to himself, he has, after very costly and slaborate experiments, succeeded in dealorising refined perroleum, which renders it succeptions of being handled as dalutily as the fumous say on co-LOGAR. The experiments with the decorrised liquid on the human hair were attended with the most astonishing results. A few applications, where the hair Appears on the first or second dressing, and the liquid so searching in its nature, seems to penetrate to the roots at once, and set up a radical change from the start. It is well known tout the most beautiful colors are made from petroleum, and, by some my sterious operation, the use of this article gradually impacts a beautiful light-brown color to the bair, which, by a continued use, deepens to a black. The color remains permanent for an indefinite length of time, and the change is so gradual that the most infinite friend can scarcely detect its progress. In a word, it is the most wenderful discovery of the age, and well calcu lated to make the prematurely taild and gray rejoics.
We advise our readers to give it a trial, feeling sattefled that one application will convince them of its wonderful effects.- Pittaburg Cemmercial* of Go
